SERVING MISSOURI FIRE CHIEF OFFICERS SINCE 1959

Dear Fire Chief,

Attached to this letter is a copy of Missouri Revised Statute 210.950 signed into law August, 2010. This statute allows the parent of an infant to relinquish the child to, among other individuals, a firefighter, EMT, or paramedic. One aspect of the statute requires that the infant be given, in person, to said individuals.

We urge all fire chiefs to review this new statute and insure that all personnel under your command be provided training on this statute as they may be confronted with the need to act in accordance with this statute.

We understand that the organization that pushed for this new statute may visit various fire departments and hospitals to insure that personnel are familiar with this statute. (This has already occurred to one department).
